

BYLAW ADJUDICATION PROGRAM RESEARCH PROJECT

Local Government Consultation Survey

The Bylaw Adjudication Program (the Program) provides local governments in British Columbia with an alternative out-of-court approach to adjudicating bylaw infractions. The Program's administrative process allows independent adjudicators to hear matters related to simple bylaw infractions. The goal of the Program is to provide simple, fair, cost-effective, timely, and accessible dispute resolution. The Program's governing legislation is the Local Government Bylaw Notice Enforcement Act (the Act) and the Bylaw Notice Enforcement Regulation (the Regulation).

Program users, including local governments and adjudicators, have raised a number of issues impacting program operations. The Program is seeking input from local governments to better understand the issues and explore options for improvement and modernization.

The survey can be accessed by following the link or QR code below. If you encounter any issues with the survey, please contact Christian.Lett@gov.bc.ca. Thank you for your participation.

<https://forms.office.com/r/mdrmbxnxiX>

The results of this survey will be shared with respondents and through the Bylaw Adjudication Program Working Group. Any future phases of this work will be announced at a later date.